PETITION
6P-0418 TO STOP
7P-0197 FORCED MOLTING
OF LAYING HENS

4396

Molting occurs in all birds. Birds gradually replace old feathers with new ones each year. During natural molting a female bird stops laying eggs. Her energies are needed to grow new feathers. Egg producers practice "forced molting." They starve their hens of all food for up to 2 weeks to control egg laying and prices. The hens go into physiologic shock. They lose up to 30 percent of their bodyweight. Millions of hens die. All endure the utmost suffering of starvation. Forced molting is a major cause of Salmonella poisoning because prolonged food deprivation weakens the hen's immune system, which causes disease.

UNITED EGG PRODUCERS AND U.S. POULTRY AND EGG ASSOCIATION undersigned insist that the egg industry take immediate steps to eliminate the cruel practice of "forced molting."
